Little Green Riding
Hood and the Three Chickens

Little Green Riding Hood Once upon a time there was a sweet little girl that everyone called Little Green Riding Hood. This was because she always wore a green cape with a hat your aunt had given to him as a gift. One day, the mother of Little Green Riding Hood called and said: - My daughter, you you can take this basket and take it to your aunt? There's cake in there, butter, candy and some fruit.

She is feeling ill and this may help her to get well. feel better. But don't go out of the way and go straight to her aunt's house, without stopping to talk to no stranger, right? Little Green Riding Hood's aunt lived half an hour away from distance into the forest, outside the village where they lived. As soon as she entered forest, soon some chickens appeared behind a Bush. She wasn't even scared because she didn't know that chickens could be dangerous. – Good morning, Little Green Riding Hood! - the chickens greeted. – Good morning, ladies chickens - she answered. - Where are you going? – I am going to visit my aunt, because she is not feeling good. – What do you have in that basket? asked one of the chickens. – I have cake, butter, candy and some fruit for take it to my auntie! - Great! And where does your little auntie live?

-asked the hen, and Little Green Riding Hood finished explaining exactly the location of your aunt's house! They They walked together for some time. Then, the chickens said: - Look at the beautiful flowers that we have here! Why don't you take some of them for your aunt? She looked around and saw all those beautiful flowers. Little Green Riding Hood thought her aunt would be very happy to win flowers and, even with the advice of her mother to go straight down the path, she detoured to pick some flowers. Taking advantage of that Little Green Riding Hood had gone deeper into the forest. dense, the chickens went straight to the aunt's house. Like this they arrived, knocked on the door and heard a voice there from inside the house: - Who is it? asked the aunt. - It's me, Little Green Riding Hood. I brought cake, butter, candy and fruit! - said the chickens, trying to disguise their voice. - Oh, how kind! Push the door firmly to enter. I don't have the strength to go there and open it.

The chickens entered the house, went to auntie's bed and locked her in the closet so she could steal things her! Then, some of them wore auntie's clothes to disguise and lay down on the bed. And the two other chickens They went to watch Little Green Riding Hood to see if she was already arriving. When Little Green Riding Hood arrived at her aunt's house, noticed that the door was open. so she entered and went into the bedroom to find her. Usually she was very happy in her mother's house. grandma, but that day there was something strange...

- Good morning, auntie!
- said Little Green Riding Hood, but no one answered. Grandma looked really weird...
- Our aunt, what a thin neck you have! ' exclaimed Little Green Riding Hood.
- It's so I can see you better!
- the chicken replied, disguising her voice.
- Wow, auntie, what a big crest you have!
- Well, it's my niece, it's for me to get prettier!
- Auntie, what fine fingers you have!

olf fell to the ground, giving her time to run out the door that was open. The wolf then ran away and started chasing Little Red Riding Hood around the forest! A hunter who was passing by, heard the screaming and went towards the noise, he thought someone needed help. . That's how saw that it was the wolf he thought: – I finally found it! The hunter was after this one wolf for a long time! As the wolf was distracted in the pursuit, the hunter managed to catch up without no one noticed and with his lasso, he captured and tied up the wolf, saving Little Riding Hood who said:

- Thank you very much!

Glad you were around! But now we need to find out where my auntie! I'm scared of what might have happened! The policeman then forced the chickens to tell what had happened and where they had hidden auntie. After that, the whole village decided to arrest the chickens in a place where they could never again stalk or steal from anyone. And with all that happened, Little Green Riding Hood decided never to go out of the way and listen with pay more attention to everything your mother tells her!
