

The life in the other side of the Stratosphere

"Planet Earth: a perfect planet, by many considered a divine work created by a higher being. In this book I liked to draw attention to the problems of our planet and it is our responsibility to do something to save it, is our responsibility to stop the pollution, defrost and create green sources of clean energy production and clean. Everyone thinks that not will happen in our lifetime, but it depends on us to save the planet for future generations , so let your green mark on the planet , one step at a time. The planet Earth is the responsibility of all of us.

The era of race to space, the major world leaders fought among themselves to see who was able to venture into the far depths of the universe in search of other sources of income, prosperity but above all security against invasions of other species that do not have yet been discovered by human beings who live on other planets, little did they know that the danger resided under her feet. While these large countries fought each other, they were using many non-renewable resources such as oil, iron ore, coal and more. While extract underground resources the pressure that global warming was on ecosystems was to reach an irreversible point where it would no longer humanly possible to reverse. Due to these climate change began to emerge several warnings of nature such as earthquakes, tsunamis, hurricanes and super volcanoes. The only realize these effects was Darwin Tesla 24 who lived in gracious island of Madeira, in the long forgotten Atlantic sea that have only served the country as transportation source for all animal and plant life that there survived, left to exist due to the melting, rising sea level, current and temperature changes.

The young Darwin Tesla was waging a fight against humanity itself, for many years that various entities tried to curb global warming, but always without success, for they were fighting the considered "progress" of the great world leaders. And this kind of fight was never noticed or given their due value by the year 2036, year in which a large volcano erupted sending the entire planet to the dark ages. So before the end imminent is that the voice of small Darwin was heard by the great world leaders, and not only. It was heard by all those interested in the life and survival of the previously called human species that would be required later to leave the planet because it was considered too inhospitable place for human survival. In the year 2042 it was released the first scout ship out of the stratosphere in the hope of finding a safe planet and that would ensure the prosperity of the human race. This ship followed Darwin, the young man whom no one ever listened and now holds a role of the highest importance.

While Darwin and the Apollo crew 43 sought a safe place for humans, life on earth complicated by the minute due to excessive use of natural resources as essential to life as water and oxygen itself were scarce, and a problem still worse came to was that those who had more capital and exerted some higher office had access to resources first and always how excessive, leaving the poorest and most needy populations without access ha clean water and medicines. thus it was created an organization in Europe that wanted to arrest all considered inferior beings, in order to reduce the use of these goods, having been arrested: blacks, Asians, Africans and all those who were not nationals of a European country; this organization was later named Man of the Black, being led by Germany. This situation experienced in Europe created a liberation movement in Europe of xenophobia and racism, which would be called the United Confederation, led by the United States and England.

But in the confines of the universe, the crew of Apollo 43 had found an alien planet, which was called Kepler that according to NASA officials say is the closest planet to Earth, its parent star is very similar to our sun, and the planet orbits in the habitable zone. Kepler was the "best chance" of survival that humanity had, say its discoverers. Due to World War II that lived on Earth, more than two thirds of the population will have died while David walked through the universe in search of the "key" for survival. And with the victory of the United Confederation were created in the United States a ship with capacity for 4,000 people who would aim to reach Kepler and rebuild humanity, and those who do not you enter the ship would be left to his fate on Earth and so It could be a return to earth after centuries and centuries for the layer that was covering the solar radiation reaching the ground because of the ashes of the volcano and dissipate possible again inhabit the planet again.

In the year 2057 was launched into space with Prometheus 4000 saviors of mankind. After years navigating the universe finally arrived at Kepler where they hoped to find the salvation of mankind, but it was then that one of the ship's reactors exploded due to unexpectedly high pressure atmosphere.

Because of the fall of the ship only survived a group of 5 people who were so with the mission of returning to earth and do everything possible to re- try the launch of another ship to go in search of another planet; return to earth and do everything possible to restore life on Earth; or stay at Kepler planet and fight for survival and wait for another ship to come in rescue group. This group became known as the "Five".

When they saw that the mother ship could not be reconstructed, they had to live in the hope that one day someone would respond to his message of SOS. After several weeks drift, Darwin and his crew spotted a deserted island. Over the days the hunger and thirst was increasing and the food that was left was the mother ship, Darwin decided it would be risky that if successful would have resources for several years on the island, and he decided to use the parts to build a shelter for the survivors, and so was the end of two days to prepare all for the trip to the ship and decide who would be the chosen one, James a technician who worked for the Navy and a great friend of Darwin early on decided that this would be his great mission and left the capsule 5 where the crew was when he had to abandon ship and left more Darwin to the ship.

After three days and nights at sea, finally they reached the mother ship which took the opportunity to send another request for help and realize they had received no reply from the space station orbiting the Earth to say that the situation on the planet was chaotic but were being organized rescue teams to go in the five survivors, when they received the news salvation of friends were extremely happy but despite the rescue come the way would still take several years if not decades to reach Kepler. Darwin and James gathered all the food they could and returned to the island where they gave the good news, all were delighted and that night, it was a night of celebration, but the joy did not last forever because after a few weeks the food and water already scarce again because Darwin and James did not have enough space in small rescue ship to carry a large shipment of materials and the nights were increasingly becoming cooler. Darwin kept with a diary where you wrote down all events, this diary was the old diary of Captain mother ship that Darwin found when he was there looking for food in Darwin book found a note saying that the ship had an emergency power source which served to use if the ship is despenhasse and this way the captain could use the energy to launch a small military ship off the planet can return to space and return home over a crew of three.

It was then that the desire to live took group account and James found him a member of the highest importance because of its position in the army, took his knife survival and stabbed the other members leaving only live Darwin because this was their friend long time and this was not able to hurt him. Although Darwin did not accept the way his friend handled the situation he could not do anything and argue or fight James would not change the situation would not bring the life of the remaining back. After spending another week to sail until the ship finally reached and come on board and called the emergency power sources in order to launch the spacecraft into space. James was shocked when he discovered that the ship recorded in the notebook was not the ship that were in the hangar and that the captain had made a mistake in writing the information, which James noticed is that the ship that was in the hangar had 6 seats more that they were in the logbook of Captain and it would have killed all his friends in vain and that could have led everyone home safe and sound.

But James could not let go low because Darwin had his help to help save them. And so it happened both were launched into space on the ship military and now only left them hope they could survive to reach the Earth and the situation on the planet was much more peaceful than it was when they received the message from the International Space Station. After about three decades to navigate the vast darkness of space, Darwin sees a familiar planet is the Earth was no longer covered in volcanic ash and it appeared they were recovered, but not all are good news during the trip James could not stand the depression he suffered for killing his colleagues unnecessarily and decides to put an end to his life, leaving Darwin alone during the trip with a dead body beside her. So that when Darwin lands in New York is petrified with what is. He found a country in expansion that seemed never to have been near extinction. Darwin carries the body of his friend by downtown New York to get to a funeral where they would decide what to do with the body of James.

Darwin decided to invest everything you learned in creating a help center for the environment so this way it aims to prevent what has happened in the past is forgotten but also never happen again. This new center would be based in graceful Madeira and would have as its primary objective to restore life in the ocean . Darwin had to fight hard to achieve his dream but with much effort he got permission to work in the Atlantic Ocean, he decides that his first creation will be super-efficient robots that help hardly any fighting there in the ocean, such as piracy, hunting illegal and also to clean the ocean. For without the oceans all what we know today would not exist and for that we must preserve it. For as Epictetus said, " Some things are under our control and not others."

But world peace was short-lived, the past few years, Darwin discovered that their robots had been stolen and that were being used to target other military means.

The robots that Darwin had conceived help fight all evil, was being used to prepare a war, he at the end of each month discover some of the greatest secrets of mankind, a great army was planning to invade the USA and that they would in possession the most powerful weapon in the world but no one knew for sure what it was and where it was only one thing was certain to Darwin and was that the invasion would be soon. After a few days Darwin is located one of the soldiers who was planning the attack and decided to talk to him, which seems to start with a small conversation quickly becomes a battle for survival.

Darwin is stabbed and left to their fate as this would have made all the inhabitants of the earth when he boarded the ship to leave the planet. A few hours later Darwin was found passed out in an alley by a homeless and was taken to the hospital. When this wakes noticed by your whole world was upside down, the whole world was thrown into a robotic world and the invasion would already be over and that the country was now at war within its borders, a situation that never before it had happened because all the major wars that the USA were involved was happening in other countries and the American people now faced the fear of leaving the street without being killed by a stray bullet, like other people.

It is up to Darwin defeat this formidable foe because this invasion was only possible because of the robots he created.

But despite his desire to correct the things he knew that alone would not be able , and only with the help of members of the military is that it would be possible any attempt to rescue the human race from self-destruction . But after years of pure whole battle was about to be resolved, but when the time came to arrest all those involved in the attacks and the like, Darwin's name was mixed up in the list of accused for supplying weapons to the rebels , Darwin was arrested and he had to spend the rest of his life in prison where he died in a fight with another prisoner.

Despite the loss of Darwin be a great grief to the world and let the world in shock because he was acquitted of the crime for lack of evidence, it is worth it is the decision of the judge have come too late. But it would not be the first to be wrongly convicted and surely it will not be the last. However the world situation was improving before our eyes, with the rebel group's dismantling world peace brought to the world a new era of peace and prosperity. I could say finally that the world was in reconstruction and that the human race was progressing.

All over the world were growing new communities and appearing more and more news. Economic growth and consequent urban development, made isolated communities in rural areas, saw diminish the role they had. With the development of cities, a new art was born, Gothic art, urban, embodied in the cathedral and new abbeys.

The new Gothic artistic achievements were possible due to a new economic ambience, social, political and religious that animated the Christian West, creating conditions for the affirmation of a new artistic sensibility. Among the new achievements, said the construction of cathedrals, taken as a center of urban organization. The cathedral was actually the main architectural manifestation of Gothic, as dwelling place of God in the city, was also considered as the most protection against the end of the world and a way of thanks for saving the human species and so it was used by all city dwellers. The cathedrals were buildings offered to God, either to glorify, and to achieve the forgiveness of sins and salvation.

But for all the world is going through an era of reconstruction, would never be the same because after all the pollution and to exhaust all non-renewable resources, the population had to live only on what could plant and little existing water, but the race to space had not yet finished and looking up in every way to find another planet inhabited not to revive the human race.

What would you do if you lived in such a world? "

This was a story found in a notebook belonging to journalist James C. who lived on a planet where there were no longer enough resources for the entire population and all lived worried and always afraid because the boss was the military who were allowed to kill anyone refused to deliver what they had when they were asked for food or for maintenance and treatment of the military in his country.

This planet was called s land a land once full of riches and happiness but that was gradually losing its luster because while everyone was to live your life no one noticed they were living in an era consumerist when all was considered necessary and I was no longer even have to leave home to get food, because enough a call to the food come to the house, but with this excessive use of electronics and drive the planet was becoming increasingly polluted by cars and all factories, water was becoming less accessible because its waste was red hot and deposits of oil and gas was almost dry due to its excessive extraction to supply all countries.

And all data related to Darwin were possible through his diary that he always had his hand up to his fateful moment.

And you are prepared for this moment not pay your role on Planet Rescue. This in our hands to save the Earth, our home. Get to save light and do not waste water, uses less your car or bike and walk more public transport, walking or cycling. In 40 years the human being destroyed, used and wasted what took millions of years to be built. If we all help we in the basic things of life, we call heroes us because we are contributing to the preservation and salvation of the planet. Will it be able to be a hero? We have to be police ourselves and all the pollution we produce is reflected in us at the end. What will you do to change the fate of the Earth?
